

The Trouble with Busybodies © Xen 4

The other day I drove by an abortion clinic where protesters were picketing against the practice and harassing young women visitors seeking abortion advice and services. Where do these right to life's get the idea they have any right interfering with the personal choice a woman makes to terminate an unwanted pregnancy? A decision not to spend twenty or more years of her life doing something she does not wish to or cannot do. Or worse, having a retarded child with lifetime special needs that she the mother is responsible to provide and care for alone. Where is the 'we know what is right for you' cult then? Abortion is not an easy decision for a woman of any age. Her emotionally hard and painful struggles deciding and undergoing such a loss requires much unselfish courage on her part for benefit of she and the unborn. On the other hand, right to life's are violent nutcase terrorists known to bomb clinics and cold bloodedly murder clinic staff among other violent acts. They seem not to see how their actions create unintended consequences that will haunt a woman for life in doing what she believes is best for her and an unwanted, unborn child; what right do 'we know what is right for you' strangers forcing their morality upon her have to interfere? They do not!! Legislated and criminalized morality is forcing a one size fits all law onto everyone; by mandating certain behaviors, usually cult religious laws that are forcefully applied to everyone, which never works in even the most draconian police state or within a do as we say not as we do religious cult. Mothering does not fit all women all of the time if at all. Where are these self-righteous, meddlesome, strangers after preventing an abortion to help or take full responsibility in the physical, psychological and financial care of this woman and child? Will they shoulder duties of bearing a child into the world and raising it to adulthood? Will any of them be there to sit up all night with a sick infant, take it to and pay for emergency care, bathe, diaper, feed, clothe, daycare, education and all other responsibilities and costs of raising a child for the next two decades? No, they will all be piously patting and frottaging each others egos for a job well done serving their cause and 'god' leaving the mother to fend for she & baby – scared and alone. These misguided people do not think about their action's unintended consequences affecting a girl child with an unwanted pregnancy. Often she is only a child raising a baby, alone. She has not matured enough to care for her needs or those of an infant and realizes that to end it now stops a lifetime of suffering for them both. Preventable misery from not adding another unwanted baby to a disposable society of throwaway kids, along with everything else. Americans spend more on their pets than on the nation's kids. These crazies are saying we need more of that?! Children raising children and the untold suffering to unwanted children whose parents or parent did not want or desire because of ignorance in not thinking through their decision before parenthood. Examples are everywhere of this: gangs, prison, drug addicted infants, diseased infants, addictions, crime, child slavery, street urchins having more unwanted children, slums, prostitution, suicides, violent death, abuse of all kinds and missing kids, ad infinitum, ad nauseam. So, what are these wrongheaded, willfully stupid protesters thinking when intruding upon a woman's personal choice to prevent another derelict entering into a life suffering in hell! I expect their self-righteous lives are so dismally miserable that they interfere with others to avoid facing their devils. Perhaps misery loves company in their zeal to bring more souls to their vengeful 'god' of misery, hate, tears and torture-some sorrow. The "we know what is best for you" bunch that cannot manage their affairs out to ruin other people's lives.

Odd, that these protesters show only one side of the circumstance with knee jerk, graphic posters of aborted fetus' and such; why not show the whole truth with posters of what being born retarded, deformed, unwanted or no longer wanted in the world does to children, and their descendants – ad nauseam. Authorities should mandate licensing, high fees to obtain permits and training to all right to lifers certifying their mature, responsible ability to responsibly protest before allowing them their first amendment rights to picket the public. Certifying that they understand unintended consequences of their actions. Find out where they and their organization lives; then hand the unwanted, deformed, retarded, bastard children off to them. You wanted this now you feed and care for it. In other words, unless you fanatics are prepared to take care of mother and baby in toto, butt out! Currently, activists terroristically push only their side without realizing the unplanned harm caused elsewhere in the circumstance. At present, none know what they are doing and the harmful consequences to those they claim to represent intimidating a troubled young potential mother struggling with a very difficult personal, lifetime decision. Epecially irksome are the men protesting a woman's decision? One of the best ever arguments against men even being there is, “when you grow a uterus, then men have a voice. Otherwise, shut up, buddy!’ It is her body, unborn baby and decision. Ever hear of minding your business?!